For civil and construction engineering company—Parker Construction Group—building the most unique homes for their clients is at the heart of their mission. In keeping with that vision, Suzanne C. Moss Interior Design sought to create a truly unique office space featuring a reception area chocked full of personalized details including a custom floor covering that displays the company's distinctive brand. The Custom Floor Covering features laminated layers of felt with the company's dynamic logo set into a background of deep grey for a striking and seamless effect.
